Request for Admission to ABCDE University's Medical School

Countless times, my friends and family have asked me to visit a psychiatrist due to what they consider a mental illness. I do not blame them! I am always dressed in a white dust coat and black headphones, playing doctor. They believe, at 19, I am too old to have such a fascination. Even worse, I use sharp thumb pins to inject my little sister's teddy bear, and I imagine it crying like a young kid. I ask myself many questions regarding medical analysis and treatment: How do medical practitioners identify an individual's illness? Are there techniques for operating a human body? Do doctors experience pain when injected with drugs? I suspected that if someone used a microscope to analyze my blood, they would find that the platelets and t-cells have some black notes of a medical practitioner facilitating my heartbeats. My desire to become a medical doctor has given me the impetus to seek admission into a medical school. I feel that finding an opportunity to study at ABCDE University would help me actualize this dream.

I attend science training programs and seminars held every year at Texas University, the University of Chicago, and State University. Participating as a researcher has made me more ambitious and enthusiastic than ever before. Through these training sessions, I have learned more complex dynamics between clinical medicine and minor surgery to solve one of the significant challenging questions regarding medical treatment. Therefore, my great love for specializing in surgeries brings me to ABCDE University. Thanks to the beautiful experience, I now believe that ABCDE University is my future since it will help me excel in my medical science passion.

Besides, I am attracted to ABCDE University for other distinct reasons. First, I like working with diverse groups of people and whom we have a common mindset. I am grateful because ABCDE University wholeheartedly accommodates and values diversity. As a Sikh American, I believe I will impart the university's innovative search for knowledge that spans varied cultures and religions and help develop a basis for the university's future success.

Sincerely, this is the best success I can imagine.

Several departments at ABCDE University advocate for diversity within the institution, and this resonates with my goals and desires. ABCDE is ranked the best institution with increased cultural and ethnic diversity growth. Amazingly, this institution does not discriminate against students due to their cultural diversity and ethnic differences. Instead, it establishes a suitable learning environment for all students, thus facilitating students' success. With the exposure and knowledge in medical science, I know that I can positively impact ABCDE by establishing a conducive climate that improves intellectual curiosity.

I am confident that I will perform marvelously in my studies since the clinical medicine and surgery department integrates theory learning and research, thus improving students' understanding. In addition, I am grateful because ABCDE is one of the best research centers in the State. It has state-of-the-art equipment and sufficient resources that enhance effective learning and research process. Also, the institution encourages students, especially those specializing in minor and major surgeries, to observe keenly during their practice.

ABCDE University is renowned for churning out qualified professionals who perform excellently in their distinct fields of work. Indeed, I have intellectual observation skills that will positively impact my learning throughout my time at ABCDE. Therefore, the university is not only the best place for me but also the only place for me now. At ABCDE, I will nurture my passion in the medical field and become the best-known surgeon globally.
